

Gucci introduced a new autumn/winter 2013/2014 eyewear collection that features the web ribbon detail on the temples. The web stripe, in green-red-green and blue-red-blue has its roots in the art of horse-riding and is one of Gucci's most iconic motifs.

The collection includes four pairs of sunglasses and three optical frames as well as three special Asian fit sunglasses and two Asian fit optical frames. The models come in metal and the ultra-lightweight plastic Optyl and in a variety of shapes and tones. The web stripe detail is fixed externally to the temple by a gold metallic GG Britt logo.
