

Take a listen to ASCO's newest podcast: Misconceptions of Optometry. Two current optometry students, 2nd year Morganne Bayliss from Michigan College of Optometry at Ferris State University and Chanpreet Sawhney, a 1st year student at Salus, University Pennsylvania College of Optometry speak about their educational path through other disciplines of medicine and health care before landing at optometry school, a decision both students do not regret.