New Monthly Replacement Contact Lens Option

Air Optix plus HydraGlyde is the newest addition to Alcon's Air Optix portfolio of monthly replacement contact lenses. Air Optix plus HydraGlyde contact lenses merge two unique technologies: SmartShield, which is designed for excellent deposit resistance, and HydraGlyde Moisture Matrix, which aims to deliver longer-lasting lens surface moisture.

The new lenses are expected to be available to U.S. patients in late February 2017 in a power range of +8.00D to -12.00D. The Air Optix family of monthly replacement contact lenses includes a variety of options including clear and color, overnight and flexible wear, toric and multifocal. For more information, click here.
